

BUILD A STRONGER COMMUNITY

ABOUT MESSAGE CONSENT

The Message Consent project employs innovative, child-centric methodologies and captivating lesson plans to equip educators with the tools needed to teach consent effectively. Beyond this, our aim transcends the classroom: we are building safe spaces that deter bullying, combat gender-based violence, and nurture the mental well-being of both educators and students.

The Message Consent initiative is designed to teach elementary students about consent, emphasizing boundaries, the importance of saying "no," and respecting others' wishes. It provides educators with user-friendly tools like the "Message Consent Guide for Teachers" and a digital learning hub.

The project goal is to empower teachers to effectively teach consent using engaging, child-centric methods, fostering healthy interactions, and supporting gender equality while prioritizing the well-being of students and educators.

TARGET GROUPS

Our primary audience comprises:

- ✓ Elementary school teachers and education professionals.
- ✓ Students aged 8-12 and their families.

THE COMPREHENSIVE GUIDE

Our first milestone is a comprehensive guide, that promotes an understanding of consent as a life skill. This guide is the key to navigating the realm of consent education for students aged 8-12. Here is what it contains:

1 Consent Definition

This guide clarifies what consent truly means, going beyond words to instill a culture of respect, boundaries, and communication.

2 Empowering Practices

Packed with tailored strategies, it equips educators with tools for conflict resolution, boundary-setting, and fostering mutual respect.

3 Human Rights

It integrates Human Rights Education (HRE), empowering students to seek permission and navigate relationships with empathy.

4 Lesson Plans

Seven dynamic plans cater to diverse needs, offering guidelines and activities to spark meaningful conversations.

PROJECT'S NEXT STEPS

Currently, our consortium is validating these lessons through focused engagements with teachers and seasoned education professionals. The insights garnered from these sessions will fortify our lesson plans, shaping their final form.

The culmination of this data analysis will be a multilingual infographic, spotlighting the validated content across partner languages - Croatian, English, German, Greek, Italian, and Turkish.

Your commitment to fostering a culture of consent is pivotal!
Stay tuned for updates in our next newsletter where we will introduce the insights and lessons to transform the educational landscape worldwide.
